If all the world were a ham, what a wonderful place this would be.

Kuwait Celebrates annually two important occasions marking it's independence on 25 February 1961 and it's liberation from Iraqi invasion on 26 February 1991.

The State of Kuwait lies at the northwest corner of the Arabian Gulf. It shares its south and southwest borders with the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia. To the north and west, it shares borders with the Republic of Iraq. Most of Kuwait's mainland is a flat and sandy desert. The presence of many dispersed hills characterizes the north part of the country. The Southern part of the Country is generally flat. The total area of Kuwait is 17.818 square kilometers.
